Ronald McDonald House: Pittsburgh Make a House a Home

Sponsoring a space at the Houses provides individuals and groups with the opportunity to help provide caring and practical support to families during an incredibly stressful time.

How your sponsorship makes a difference

Sponsor & Design a Floor

The House is designed to feel like home—because that's exactly what families need during some of life's most difficult moments. With eight floors and 74 private family apartments, even a welcoming environment can begin to feel the same day after day.

By sponsoring a floor, you have the unique opportunity to transform that space into something bright and unique. Your support helps create an environment with engaging, thoughtfully designed décor that deliver moments of fun, distraction and warmth.

While the design brings lightness to each day, what you truly provide is something much deeper: a sense of security. A place where caregivers can rest, regroup, and remain close to their child receiving medical care. From the elevator that connects families directly to the hospital's "Rainbow Bridge"—so they never have to face Pittsburgh's unpredictable weather—to secure keycard access that offers peace of mind, to private, comfortable living spaces where families can care for themselves and one another, each of the eight floors offers far more than a place to sleep.

Your sponsorship supports the essential needs of an entire floor, helping ensure each space remains well-maintained and ready to welcome families at any moment. As a floor sponsor, you'll also have the unique opportunity to collaborate with Ronald McDonald House staff to create a custom theme and graphic design, leaving a lasting, meaningful impression on every family who walks through those doors.
